Why is the age for most social media set at 13?

The age limit is 13 because of the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA), which was passed in 1998.

COPPA restricts websites from tracking and harvesting data on children under 13, which is why most apps do not want children younger than 13 to join.

A brutal beheading scene was shared on TikTok, disguised as a video of a teenage girl dancing to pop songs.

The clip started with a girl dancing in front of the camera but seconds later cut to bathroom where a gang speaking in Spanish decapitated a young man while he was still alive.

Predators using Tik Tok to solicit photos of children's feet

by KNIN/KIVI via Fox News Edge | Wednesday, April 15th 2020

BOISE, Idaho - Officials are issuing a new warning for parents about the popular Tik Tok app, saying predators are using the app to solicit photos of children's feet.

The photos are often traded for money and many times eventually lead to the sharing of more explicit pictures and videos.

According to investigators, children and teens are offered anywhere between $10 to $900 for photos and videos. The commander of Idaho's Internet Crimes against Children Task Force says once the predator has the photo, the threats come in.

"I started seeing a lot of girls posting pictures of their feet saying they were getting $20," Boise County School Resource Officer David Gomez said. "A lot of these young girls profiles had their Venmo accounts had their PayPal accounts already listed so that predators already know who is accepting money for what."

TikTok's algorithm is promoting sexual content, drugs and alcohol to children as young as 13, shocking investigation reveals

- An investigation by the Wall Street Journal explored the TikTok for you page
- It involved 31 'automated' accounts registered as 13 to 15 year old teenagers
- As the bots scrolled through the for you page they lingered on some videos
- Very quickly the for you page became dominated by adult orientated content
- This included from accounts clearly labelled as being for adults only
- TikTok says it is working on a filter tool to restrict content for teenagers

Suicide linked to TikTok challenge spreads controversy in Egypt

Egypt Independent - December 24, 2022

A twelve-year old boy died by hanging after reportedly imitating a controversial challenge spread across TikTok, referred to as the 'Charlie Challenge'.

The boy's family found him hanged in his bedroom in Bahtim area of Shubra al-Khaima, Qalyubia Governorate.

During the investigations, the child's mother said that she had found a video clip about how to use the "Devils Game" or the "Charlie Challenge" on the TikTok application.

The mother concluded that her son was trying to imitate the game and hanged himself with a rope.

Effects of the short form video

The human brain, particularly in children, is highly malleable. As younger and younger children grow up with TikTok, certain neural pathways may not be developed. The idea of focused attention for reading a book or thinking deeply is slowly becoming a thing of the past.

Edibles and social media

An ongoing trend is the marketing and sale of drug infused food items known as edibles via Snapchat.

Packaged as sweets, known to contain THC, MDMA, LSD or amphetamine.

Can take many hours for the user to experience a high, resulting in the user overdosing and experiencing hallucinations and psychotic episodes.

The packaging resembles legitimate brands raising concerns that children could eat them by mistake.

Nude and semi-nude image production and sharing

Why might young people share nudes?

A young person may send a nude or semi-nude image or video for a variety of reasons, including:

As part of a trusting relationship

For a joke

To flirt

For affirmation, such as positive feedback they receive from recipients

Because they have been manipulated, pressured or coerced into doing so

They are illegal

Taking, possessing and sending a nude of a child is;

The making, possession and distribution of indecent images of children, even if it is of themselves.

Bullying

The risk of being bullied online increases. When relationships breakdown it is not uncommon for images to be distributed as a form of retribution.

Blackmail (sextortion)

An offender may trick or manipulate the child to send images, they then threaten to share the images with the child's family and friends unless the child sends more images, videos or even money.

I saw your NUDES! 💧💧 😘 HOT!!

Popular High School Student Victimized by Sextortion Hours Before Suicide

A 17-year-old Michigan high school student who died by suicide last week did so just hours after someone demanded money from the teen to keep a compromising photo from his parents and friends.

Investigators at the Marquette County Sheriff's Office said they don't usually release information about suicides, but the parents of Jordan DeMay requested the release in hopes it could save a life.

The sheriff's office said that investigators believe Jordan was extorted via social media over a photograph he had taken of himself. The perpetrator pressured him to pay to keep the photo private.

"He sent them money," Sheriff Greg Zyburt told WLUC. "He did send them money, yeah. It wasn't enough. They wanted more."

Outcome 21

This outcome code allows the police to record a crime as having been committed but for no formal criminal justice action to be taken as it is not considered to be in the public interest to do so.

Online Grooming

The Current Landscape

Potential number of offenders

In 2021, the National Crime Agency estimated that 550 000 to 850 000 in the UK pose varying degrees of sexual risk to children (online or offline).

This includes a broad spectrum of offences, from downloading and sharing child abuse images to direct contact abuse.

If you want to know more about how this figure has been estimated, you can read the NCA's latest National Strategic Assessment 2021 which is available on the NCA website.

The Internet Watch Foundation publishes new data

April 26, 2022

“Every image is a child being abused, there is a flesh and blood child in that picture who had feelings when that picture was being taken and is in many cases, still being abused”. Marie Collins, Patron MCF

At MCF we are fully committed to ensuring the response to technology-assisted child sexual abuse and exploitation is one that supports the child and their family on the road to recovery. If you, or someone you know or work with, has been the victim of this crime, you are not alone. Contact us for support at help@mariecollinsfoundation.org.uk. Data published by the Internet Watch Foundation \(IWF\) yesterday shows girls are at increasing risk online.

Ten years ago, 65% all child sexual abuse material identified analysts featured the sexual abuse of girls. The latest data shows this to have increased to 97% in 2021

This is a 374% increase of 'self-generated' imagery on pre-pandemic levels. By this we mean material has been made by a child themselves on a webcam enabled device. However, these children have often been tricked, bullied, or coerced into performing sexual acts by an adult sexual predator who has groomed them online. It is important to understand the child is not to blame for the production.

A close-up photograph of a man with short, light-colored hair and a serious, somewhat menacing expression. He is looking directly at the camera through a window or a screen. The background is dark and indistinct. The image is framed by a white border with a blue triangular corner element in the top right.

Ruth MOSS NSPCC

“And I’ve often heard people say, ‘But it’s the parent’s responsibility to keep their children safe online’, and yes it absolutely is, parents need to do as much as they can, but my message today is parents cannot do that on their own because the internet is too ubiquitous and it’s too difficult to control, it’s become a giant”

If your child has their phone in their bedroom with them overnight you will not know what they are doing or who they are communicating with.

There have been numerous incidents of fires starting as a result of phones and laptops being left on charge in bedrooms.

Blue light and sleep

Phones and tablets emit blue light.

Blue light suppresses the release of melatonin which is a hormone that encourages sleep.

Having shortened sleep can lead to negative health impacts such as metabolic disorders and mental health conditions.

Emoji Slang

A Guide for Parents

You probably know some of the slang terms your child uses while texting, but you may be completely baffled by all the emoji slang they use to chat with friends. But don't worry – we've unpacked some of the most common emojis teens and tweens use so you can know what they're actually saying. Warning: some of these can be a little 🌶️ (Explained below).

 Penis	 Indicates "spiciness," i.e., inappropriate or risqué content
 Butt	 Denotes a sarcastic, mean-spirited tone
 Vagina	 Marijuana/weed
 Indicates being "ghosted" (dumped with no explanation)	 Desiring someone sexually (often used in response to nudes)
 Shy, nervous (usually in the context of flirting)	 Breasts/testicles/virginity
 Can indicate support for white supremacy in certain contexts	 Used when sending or receiving nudes
 Ejaculation	 A stamp of approval; "I agree"
 May indicate sexual activity, specifically oral sex	 Used to refer to sexual activity
 Feeling frisky or naughty	 A response that means, "It is what it is"

Why are we addicted to devices?

“The more stimulating a technology is, the harder it is for both young people and adults to disconnect from it, and to tolerate less stimulating activities, like homework, that are required of us in the real world.”

Slot machines use a number of strategies to keep our attention and encourage us to keep playing, these include bright flashing lights and sounds.

They also use a variable ratio schedule of reward – the rewards are random – this encourages you to keep playing to see if you will be rewarded on the next go.

Likes

Likes are the main source of reinforcement that apps provide.

The likes we get from social media, as well as the comments and messages, create a chemical reward that encourages us to engage more.

Every time we go on the app, it's like pulling the lever on a slot machine; we could “win” likes from our friends.

This is also what makes posting rewarding — we know that posting a picture, a tweet, or an article will result in engagement from others that we find rewarding.

Lights and Colours

Screens and apps provide lights and colours that make them more rewarding and pleasing to look at; they hold our attention and make us come back for more.

Uncertainty and the never ending scroll

In gambling, the anticipation that we get when we're uncertain whether we'll win can sometimes be as chemically rewarding as the win itself. That's why slot machines don't just instantly tell you whether you've won or lost. They let the wheels spin for a bit first.

In apps we have push to refresh and the wait time for the app to update. They are a design feature aimed at creating anticipation. Anticipation is also why Facebook, Twitter, and others allow you to scroll indefinitely, and why we do sometimes end up scrolling indefinitely. The uncertainty and anticipation of a reward encourage you to repeat the behaviour.

I FIND MYSELF WORRYING MOST THAT WHEN WE HAND OUR CHILDREN PHONES WE STEAL
THEIR BOREDOM FROM THEM. AS A RESULT, WE ARE RAISING A GENERATION OF WRITERS WHO WILL NEVER START WRITING, ARTISTS WHO WILL NEVER START DOODLING, CHEFS WHO WILL NEVER MAKE A MESS OF THE KITCHEN, ATHLETES WHO WILL NEVER KICK A BALL
AGAINST A WALL, MUSICIANS
WHO WILL NEVER PICK UP THEIR
AUNT'S GUITAR AND START
STRUMMING.
